Dr Sailaja Nalluri, treasurer of Vijayawada Obstetric and Gynaecological Society, expressed concern over gender-based and gender-biased atrocities against women.

She addressed a meeting on 'Dheera - Violence against Women' organised by Women Cell of Andhra Loyola College in collaboration with Federation of Obstetric and Gynaecological Societies of India here on Thursday.

Dr Sailaja Nalluri lamented how pathetic it is to kill a baby in the mother's womb itself if it is revealed that it is a baby girl. She quoted many examples from Vedas and Puranas to show how women proved themselves as great warriors and administrators. She urged women not to be tolerant and silent but be expressive and communicative in raising their voice and protecting them from honour killings, sexual assaults, emotional abuses, cyber bullying, stalking or any other violence, which affects their life.

Dr Gowthami Dumpala, Consultant Obstetrician and gynaecologist at Smile Multispecialty Hospital, spoke on the role of the active bystanders which is very crucial in protecting women against violence. She elaborated on the apps, universal signals and phone numbers that women should be aware of in case of any impending danger. She exhorted the young students to educate the society and build a safe environment for the future generations.

Dr Padmaja Veeramachaneni, IVF specialist of Padmaja Clinic, concentrated on the topic of bridging gender divide peer pressure. She said that the society or the family should not dictate but urge them to live with dignity, decency and discipline. She explained at length about the common problems faced by the teenagers and the curriculum should also be designed to give them an idea regarding the issues related to women and preventive measures.

Principal Fr Dr GAP Kishore and Controller of Examinations Fr Bujji Babu in their opening remarks told the students that it is the need of every individual who is a part of this society to respect and regard that women are not simply the part of society but they are major part of society. More than 200 students and women faculty members participated in the session.

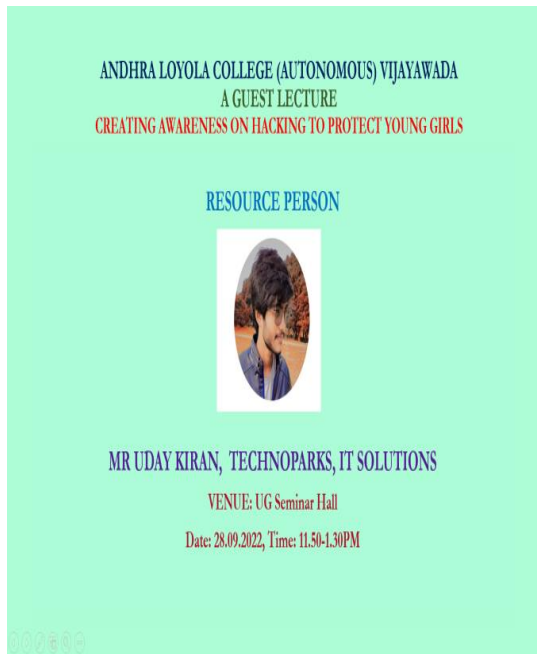

Women cell coordinator Dr Lanke Subha proposed a vote of thanks.

AP Library Association secretary Raavi Sarada called upon the students to cultivate the habit of reading in view of the accessibility to free digital libraries. Addressing the one-day seminar on 'New hopes of new women to inspire modern learners' organised by Andhra Loyola College Women's Cell as one of the guests, she emphasised that reading is the key to becoming a real man or woman.

The event was attended by the college's first and second-year students, as well as women faculty.

Another guest, Dr KSL Sruthi, the Managing Director of Tamma Vinod Reddy's Sruthi Hospital in Pamaru, asked the students about their goals and advised them to set their goals, realistically. 'The dream should be realised by focusing on the path to succeed and working with passion. Day dreaming will not help anyone.' She further shared examples from her personal journey as a medical student and practitioner.

The seminar was aimed at inspiring students to develop a positive outlook on life and embrace new opportunities and emphasised the importance of education, self-confidence and determination to overcome challenges.

The Andhra Loyola College Women's Cell is committed to supporting women's empowerment and promoting gender equality. Dollu artiste and a virtuoso Lalitha Manisha shared her memories and mesmerised the audience with her enthralling performance.

The college management felicitated Kalavathi, mother of final year BA student Sai Kiran, who won APSCE Award 2022.

Yasaswini, second year B Sc Visual Communication student, who lost her father at an early stage of life, works part time jobs in two or three places after college hours and confidently leads her life. She is also taking care of her mother, who is not in good health. Yasaswini was also felicitated on the occasion. She advised students to take up the challenges in life as it comes.

Women's Cell coordinator Dr Lanke Subha coordinated the entire programme.
